This those heads of departments whom it was practice will be followed in the additional desirable to have in the Council i secured by increasing the number official members. In future the Council will be composed of six official members in addition to the Governor and of five unofficial members. Sir Grones Bowen's proposal was that there should be seven official members, the General Commanding being included, and six unofficial members. Lord DEEBY disapproves of the General sitting in the Legislative Council and, in order to maintain the present proportion of official to unofficial members, decides that the number of the latter shall only be five. On the principle that in the multitude of comisellors there is wisdom we should have been glad to see the larger number approved, but the concession granted is in itself a valuable one and will be duly appreciated. We concur in the opinion of Lord DERBY that it is undestrable the General should occupy rantee that the selection will be a judicious seat in the Legislative Council, though not one. The new constitution of the Council on exactly the same grounds. His Lordship. is, however, a vast improvement on the old says a principal reason for the decision has one, and the thanks of the Colony are due to been the fact that the Officer-Command. ing Her Majesty's Military Forces is not under the same obligation as is incumbent upon the Civil Officers to support the measures of the Government; and if he should feel it his duty, acting in accordance with his own judgment, to speak or vote against any such measure, the opposition of an Officer holding so high a position would be made undesirably prominent No doubt this might cause inconvenience from an official point of view, but what strikes us as the chief objection is that the General cannot be expected to have any extensive knowledge of the requirements of the Colony.; his stay is always limited to a term few years, he has little or no local knowdentified in any way with local neequently not in a position, by virtue of als office, to give any valuable advice on legislative measures. As Lords DERBY says, "if Her Majesty's Government had not decided that the Officer Commanding Her Majesty's Military Forces ought not to sit in the Legislative Council, the personal qualifications of General SARGENT, who at present holds the command, would have recommended- him for discharge of that function," but unfortunately all Generals are not of General SARGENT's stamp, few being so liberal in sentiment and so little fettered by red tape, and as a rule we fear they would he found obstructive rather than usefulmembers of Council. The experience of the to be a sufficient warning to keep our local Government as free as possible from the military element. Sir Gronge Bowen says that legislation cannot fail to affect the all legislative measures have in the first inand as the General is by virtue of his office a member of that body, the interests of the

Another point on son, Mr. Justice Russell, Mesare, T. The Governor says :- "So far of the shareholders of our three oldest Banks exacting full security for the moneys which an unlimited quantity of correspondence: as I am aware, this is the only Colony bere, held in London, have passed off most sothey leave here, they are on the whole acting the tea season at Hankow a large be had added the rest of the entries afterwards. Lord DEEBY cays :- "After full consideration of the circumstances of the Council of seven members would be unnecessarily large, and that the Office of Treasurer, which is generally united with another Office, and has a salary of only nine hundred and sixty dollars ($960) a year, should not be WHOLEBALE AND RETAIL DRUGGISTS, specified as conferring a seat in that Council." Our "Minister of Finance and Trade and Chancellor of the Colonial carries a crew of 450 men, and is armed with 18 Exchequer " is therefore not to be included in the Executive Council. The conferring of these high-sounding titles on the Treasurer is calculated to provoke a smile. Hongkong being a free port, no account even being kept of the imports and exports, it is difficult to conceive what the duties of a Minister of

As to the wisdom of this practice there can cil, one is to be nominated by the Chamber of Commerce and one by the Justices of the Peace, one is to be a member of the Chinese community, and the remaining two will be selected by the Governor without nomination as at present. Sir Gsonge Bowen's suggestion was that the Chamber of Commerce should nominate two members, and we think Lord DERBy might well have assented to this, as it would have secured the selection of another thoroughly representative member and would have relieved the Governor of a delicate duty. Indeed we should like to see all the unofficial members nominated. When they are appointed by the Governor without

Our resders will remember (says the Shanghai Mercury) the German steamer Augustus, which was wrecked some time ago in the Amoor in sight of Nicolajevsk. The insurance value of the cargo was £150,000 and the vessel, which was only three years old, was insured for £20,000. Mr. Paul Noebel, the agent for the underwriters at Nicolajevsk, represented to the agency at Hamburg that the steamer was a total wreck and onsidered that it was impossible to get her off with the local means procurable at Nicolajevsk. The Augustus was consequently sold, said to have represented an invoice value of £19,000 for £1,400. She was bought by Mr. Noebel, the agent, who, after pumping hor out with little expense and with pumps which he got in Nicolajvesk, floated her and made her, with triffing expenses, a sengoing vessel. Baron Labodorff, the agent for Lloyd's at the East Siberian ports, visited Nicolajovsk in April last, with the view to investigate the sale and repurchase of the Augustus, and the Baron's action resulted in the steamer being handed over to the underwriters. We hear now from Nicolajevsk that the Russian author-Ities investigated the matter, and charged Mr. Neebel with fraud; he is consequently under the supervision of the police, not being allowed to It is notified in the Gazette that the Tramways leave Nicolajevak.
